Graduation
Is an end,
But also
A beginning . . .
The start
Of all beginnings
That every graduation
Is spinning

Graduation
Is sighs and laughter
Mingled liberally
With tears
Lingering memories
Of one's sharing
Life with classmates
Through the years.

Graduation is a conclusion
Of one big phase
Of work and fun,
A milestone passed,
New things begun.

Graduation
Is excitement,
Speeches,
Farewells,
And applause
Diplomas
And a mortarboard
The gate
To pathways
Unexplored.

Kappa Sigma is one of the oldest and largest fraternities. It was founded at the University of Virginia in 1869. It has since expanded to over 180 chapters nationwide, with over 500 of its alumni members being internationally recognized in the publication Who's Who. As a social fraternity, the Lambda Sigma Chapter has grown under the principles of academics, brotherhood, and the party. The members of our chapter are selected on the basis of qualities of ability, personality, and character. We are active in intramural sports, as well as many other campus activities. Sometimes our energy has to be contained!

Delta Sigma Theta originated in 1913 at Howard University. The 22 founders envisioned an organization of college women pledged to serious endeavor and community service. Delta has grown from a membership of 22 to an international membership of 85,000 women. The JMU chapter, Iota chapter, began in 1970, with eleven women. Since the inception of the Iota Alpha chapter, we have contributed services to the campus and community thru a Sickle Cell Clinic, Health Fair Assistants, JMU Blood Bank, Christmas and Thanksgiving Baskets, and Swine Flu Vaccination.

accounting honor society

The Madison Accounting Honor Society is in its first year of existence. It is composed of accounting majors who have achieved at least a 3.25 G.P.A. in accounting courses with a 3.1 overall. The purposes of the society are to instill in its members desire for self-improvement; to foster high moral and ethical standards in its members; to encourage and give recognition to scholastic and professional excellence; to cultivate a sense of responsibility and service in its members; to promote the collegiate study of accountancy; and to provide opportunities for association among its members and practicing accountants.

Alpha Beta Alpha, the national undergraduate Library Science Fraternity, is an opportunity for students interested in the field of Library Science to obtain additional knowledge about the profession and to aid them in setting and expanding their career goals. In this pursuit, the JMU chapter, Alpha Alpha, provides various programs and activities. Speakers provide club members with information to aid them in their professional growth as future media specialists. Other activities in which members have participated include bake sales, apple picking, paperback book sales, and attending book fairs and media congresses.

The National Honorary Broadcasting Society is the oldest and largest organization of broadcasting students and professionals in the United States. The societies' 12,000 members represent both students of colleges and universities across the country, and professionals from all areas of the communication industry. The NHBS encourages and rewards scholarship and accomplishment among students in broadcasting, recognizing the educated broadcaster, not the trade school technician. It continues to emphasize superior scholarship and creative participation in broadcast production and related activities.

alpha phi omega

Alpha Phi Omega is an organization basing its ideals on service to the nation, community, campus, and the fraternity. It follows the Greek tradition of a pledge period and membership is open to those willing to work. Each year the chapter endeavors to do a number of service projects, with our main thrusts put on the Bike-a-thon for the American Cancer Society, book-lifts for the students, Multiple Schlerosis and working with the Salvation Army. The chapter tries to work with other Greeks and others interested in service, to help achieve better working relations among all involved.

black student alliance

With the goal of promoting interest and greater minority awareness, the Black Student Alliance strives to bring all students of JMU together through various activities. Service projects and many cultural enrichment programs have been sponsored by this group. Among these activities, the observance of Black History Week was one of the most successful and fulfilling, for it recognized the many achievements and contributions of Black individuals. The Black Student Alliance's membership is open to any interested student of JMU.

blue stone

The 1978 Bluestone staff worked together to produce the most representative yearbook possible for JMU. We hope we have succeeded by your estimation, after all our hard work we are satisfied with what we produced. Because we have our own calendar year running from March to March, by December of each year ninety percent of the book is at the publishers. This is hard to explain to the many clubs and students who come to see us in late November to inquire if their club or personal picture can still make it in the book. We are a crazy group of people who keep the student center open past hours, refrain from studying during exams to make our deadlines, run around frantically taking pictures, and attempting to get all your names spelled right. It is probably the craziness that gets us through it all though. We are open to all interested students, no matter what your talents. Our staff is a family and we welcome any and all ideas and people to join us.

After winning the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Medalist award designating it one of the top campus newspapers in the country for two years in a row, The Breeze has shown that there is much to cover and uncover at James Madison University. Contributing to this, in addition to those pictured on this page, are many journalism students as well as those who work for The Breeze only because they want to. It is to the dedicated staff, the hard-core journalists who spent many long nights and mornings putting together what is still termed "the best campus newspaper in Virginia," that this page is given.

catholic catholic ministry

Catholic Campus Ministry offers a wide variety of opportunities for Catholic students to develop spiritually and to share their faith with the community. For the personal development of students, C.C.M. sponsors prayer and discussion groups on a weekly basis; and every semester, weekend retreats are held, usually in the mountains where the peace and quiet is conducive to prayer and contemplation. The neighboring community is served by a group of students who visit the old folks at nearby Camelot Nursing Home on a daily basis, sometimes providing entertainment for them. Another group visits the inmates at Linville Prison. Yet another group concerns itself with the severely physically handicapped adults at the Community of Hope in Keezeltown, Co-Hope. C.C.M. takes these activities very seriously because it considers that a Christian community must serve. Catholic Campus Ministry is also deeply involved in social activities. Picnics, parties, and intramural team sports for both men and women, are popular expressions of Catholic identity on campus. Students reach out to other students through Action Groups and an Ecumenical Committee. In order to maintain contact with the parish church, the student campus minister attends monthly meeting of the Parish Council. Students have an opportunity to participate in the parish's activities and in programs sponsored by the Volunteer Ministries Community known as Emmaus House.

The Biological Interest Organization is a group of students with one goal in common; a desire to learn about the science of life. Members are not required to be Biology majors. The main purpose of this organization is to promote an interest in biology and an appreciation of nature and wildlife. B.I.O. meets monthly, each meeting consisting of a speaker or film on a topic of biological significance. During the course of the year, B.I.O. has sponsored plant sales, a picnic, camping trip, and cultural field trip. The advisors are Dr. Elwood Fisher and Dr. J. Winstead.

chemical society

The Chemical Society, which is affiliated with the American Chemical Society, provides an opportunity for students interested in chemistry and related fields, to become better acquainted with each other. It also provides the opportunity to associate with professors, and become more informed about the academic world, the industrial world, and the challenges and responsibilities of today's chemists.

chorale

If you take seventy select voices and add to that a lot of hard work, good singing, and the enthusiastic and energetic direction of Mr. David Watkins, the resulting product is the James Madison University Chorale. The demanding work of the Chorale leads to various performances both on and off campus. The first major performance of the year is the annual Woodbridge-Garfield tour, a trip to Northern Virginia that is in it's 4th consecutive year. The highlight of the Fall Semester is the traditional Christmas Vespers concert in conjunction with the Women's Concert Choir. For this event an entire Saturday is devoted by both groups to giving Wilson Auditorium an annual holiday face-lift. With the Spring Semester comes another home concert in early spring and a week-long tour consisting of both formal evening and school assembly concerts in different metropolitan areas of Virginia. Membership in the Chorale can be attained through auditions at the beginning of each Fall Semester.

commuter student committee

The Commuter Student Committee is an active organization which seeks to insure that the interests of the commuting students are not overlooked in the University community. It is governed by an executive board, which is made up of the SGA off-campus senators and its own work group coordinators. They sponsor activities to encourage commuter involvement in campus events, publish a bi-monthly newsletter, and maintain an office in the Warren Campus Center as a crossroads for commuter activity. This year they participated in the SGA sponsored "Opener's" program with a Casino Night, worked to include commuter students in the campus directory, cooperated with Food Services in establishing a commuter lounge, instituted a proposal that changed campus parking policy, and held several fund raising events and social gatherings for commuters.

christian science organization

Each week the Christian Science Organization at James Madison University holds a testimonial meeting where Christian Scientists on campus, as well as interested students and faculty members, hear selected readings from the Bible and Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. Following the readings, anyone is free to share their healings and comments on Christian Science. Each year the Student Center receives a subscription to the "Christian Science Monitor," an international daily newspaper donated by the Organization. Monthly business meetings are also held in order to prepare for the annual lecture given on campus. This lecture, as well as the meetings are always open to Christian Scientists and Non-Scientists alike.

Rugby originated in the early nineteenth century at the University of Ruggers and was brought to JMU in the early spring of 1975. A young inexperienced team has grown to be one of the most vicious, powerful, and hard hitting groups in the Virginia Rugby Union. The JMU team, one of the top teams in the state, established their strength by placing third in a field of sixty teams at the Thanksgiving Washington D.C. Tournament. Rugby at JMU can best be described as "a gentlemen's game played by barbarians or a barbarians' game played by gentlemen."

sigma phi lambda

Sigma Phi Lambda is a campus wide honor society consisting of all students capable of maintaining a minimum GPA of 3.25. As this was the first year as a university honor society, it was a rebuilding year. Besides rewriting the constitution, the club has also strived for greater campus-wide recognition, especially on honors day, and a formal induction of new members. In the past, though total membership was high, active membership was low. This year the members of Sigma Phi Lambda, scholastic leaders on campus, have shown the community and the rest of campus that college students are not apathetic.

Wayland sponsors several speakers each semester to provide more information on a subject of general interest to members. Wayland, along with Phi Alpha Theta, sponsors an annual Fall picnic for all history majors and members, as well as a yearly Spring banquet, a Christmas party, and trips to places of historical interest.

stratford players

Stratford Players, established in 1916 as a theatre literary society, is the oldest organization on campus. Once the producer of one pageant play a year, Stratford Players now produces four main stage plays a year as well as a children's show and innumerable productions in the Experimental Theatre. Stratford Players in conjunction with the Department of Communications Arts funds and provides the manpower for each production. This year's mainstage season included Heracles (Oct. 11-16), The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds (Nov. 15-20), La Perichole (Feb. 21-26), and Loot (April 18-23). Last summer Latimer-Schaeffer Theatre housed the successful production of Agatha Christie's The Mousetrap; this summer Bus Stop will be presented. The Experimental Theatre hosted several student-directed productions during the 1977-78 academic year: In The Boom Boom Room, Empty Cradle, and And Things That Go Bump In The Night. Stratfors Player's roster has swelled to forty members as more and more students are being attracted to JMU's communication arts and theatre programs. Stratford Players and James Madison University Theatre would like to say "thank you" for letting us entertain you.

heracles

Heracles is constructed out of the ironic juxtaposition of events which do not seem to belong together. In the same play, Euripides presents us with a Heracles, the son of Zeus, a hero who has civilized the world and defended the innocent accomplishing his twelve labors; a Heracles who denies he is the son of Zeus and repudiates his labors; a savior who arrives in the nick of time to rescue his family; and a father who destroys his own family. The play cannot contain all this and tell the story of Heracles in neat conceptions of anthropomorphic gods in myths and in the actual experience of human life; between the desire for a divinity which helps and protects and the apparent indifference or even malevolence of any divinity that could preside over what we know of human misery.

Ten JMU students spent Christmas in Germany entertaining American troops as part of USO (U.S. Overseas) tour. Many cast members participated in JMU's Dinner Theatre last summer which produced The Fantisticks and A Thurber Carnival. Company members included: Hildegards Audesirk, road-manager; Steve Clark; Walter Dickey; Cindy Early; Linda Garber; David Greennagle; Cedric Guthrie; Shera Haynes; Alan Rosenburg; and Susan Senita.

The Student Government Association has a responsibility to serve the students of James Madison University and to dedicate itself to providing effective and conscientious leadership. The SGA has strived to achieve cooperation, understanding and mutual trust among its membership and the student body. To be "people oriented" and to uphold the high values and standards of every JMU student has been one of the major objectives of the SGA this year. Involvement, activeness and enthusiasm have been the hallmark of the SGA in past years and this year was no exception. With diplomacy and tactfulness the SGA has worked to see pre-registration, the teacher-course evaluation booklet, problems with local utility companies and other projects finalized and/or resolved. To continue to be the students advocate and to provide services and activities for JMU students will be the major purpose of the SGA for many more years to come.

women's rugby team

The JMU Women's Rugby Club is a recent addition to the University's extracurricular sports activities. Competition in games and tournaments began in the spring semester of '77 and has increased since then with participation in both a fall and spring schedule. Despite the bumps and bruises, the women have yet to compile a winning record. Nevertheless, with improved skills and abilities and with thanks to competent couches, a winning season is hopefully in sight.

We firmly believe in the free market economy without government interference. We also believe in strong national defense and the U.S. Constitution. The U.S. should stress victory over communism, rather than coexistence with this menace, and U.S. foreign policy should be judged by this criterion: does it serve the just interests of the U.S.?

Miss Alice E. Liggett
Secretary

It is a great pleasure for me to have the opportunity to present this message to those who were members of the student body at James Madison University in 1977-1978. The academic year 1977-78 was a very special one for me, and I hope it was also for each of you. This was the year that Madison College became James Madison University — the first year that our university operated under its new name. You will recall that there were many reasons for changing the name of our institution to James Madison University. The major reason was the most apparent one, however; James Madison University is indeed a university, in all respects and by all definitions of the word. Those of you who graduated in May of 1978 have the distinction of being members of the first full graduating class from James Madison University. I am certain that this edition of the Bluestone will be cherished by the members of the Class of 1978 as a memento of their years at Madison College and James Madison University. For other students at the University, it will serve as a continuing chapter in their own personal histories of life at James Madison University. I wish you all well. You have my hopes for success and happiness in all that you undertake.

Cordially,
Ronald E. Carrier

The Bluestone staff would like to express their deepest appreciation to all its contributors in making the 1978 Bluestone a reality. We acknowledge those who sent gifts that were not received in time to have the names published. Your interest and support, however are greatly appreciated.

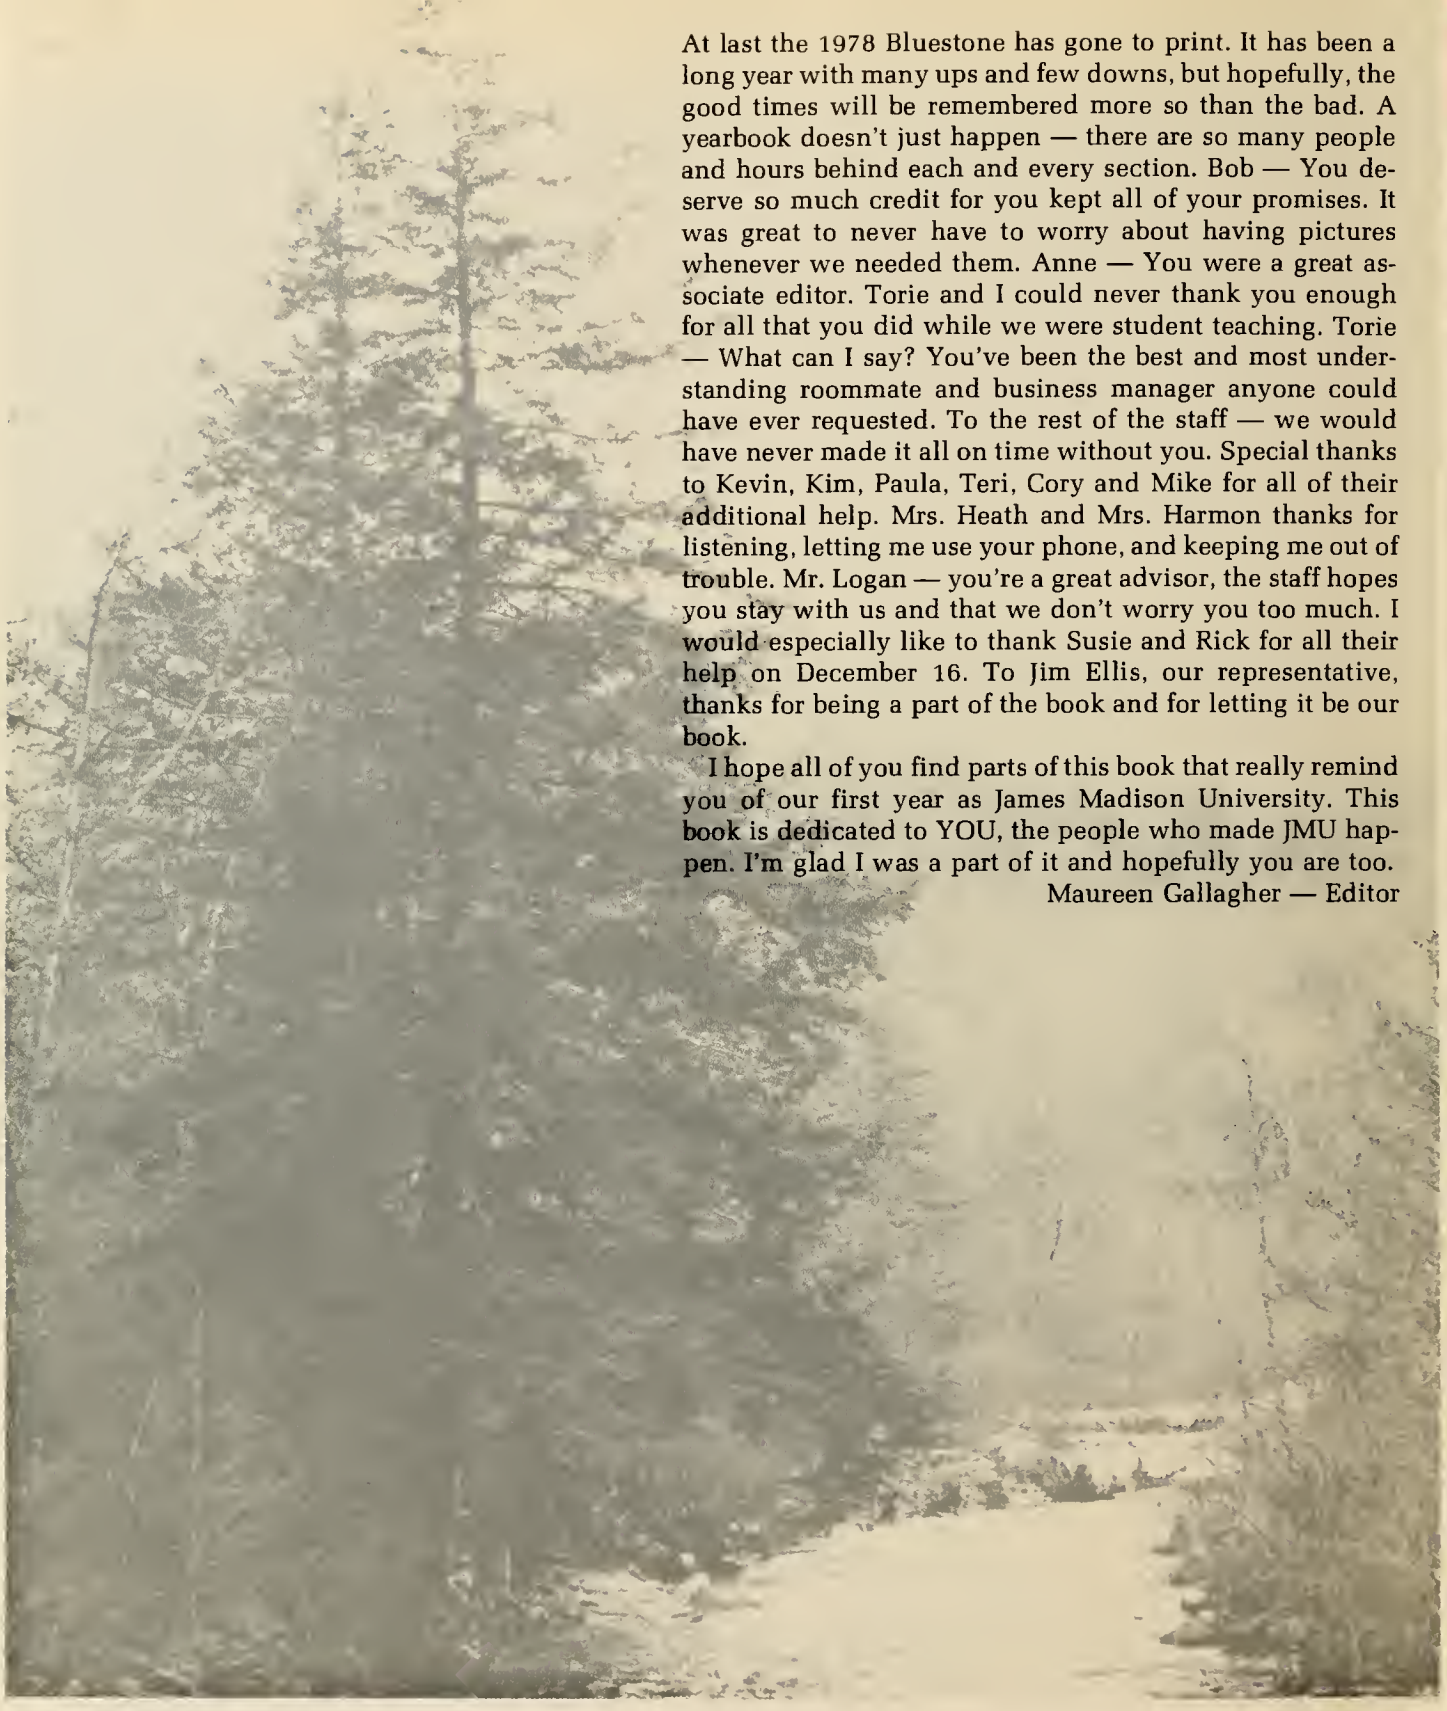
On the loose to climb a mountain
On the loose where I am free
On the loose to live my life
The way I think my life should be
For I've only got a moment
And a whole world left to see
I'll be looking for tomorrow
On the loose . . .

There's a trail that I'll be hiking
Just to see where it might go
Many places yet to visit
Many people yet to know
So in following my dreams
I will live and I will grow
On the trail that's out there waiting
On the loose . . .

"On The Loose"



At last the 1978 Bluestone has gone to print. It has been a long year with many ups and few downs, but hopefully, the good times will be remembered more so than the bad. A yearbook doesn't just happen — there are so many people and hours behind each and every section. Bob — You deserve so much credit for you kept all of your promises. It was great to never have to worry about having pictures whenever we needed them. Anne — You were a great associate editor. Torie and I could never thank you enough for all that you did while we were student teaching. Torie — What can I say? You've been the best and most understanding roommate and business manager anyone could have ever requested. To the rest of the staff — we would have never made it all on time without you. Special thanks to Kevin, Kim, Paula, Teri, Cory and Mike for all of their additional help. Mrs. Heath and Mrs. Harmon thanks for listening, letting me use your phone, and keeping me out of trouble. Mr. Logan — you're a great advisor, the staff hopes you stay with us and that we don't worry you too much. I would especially like to thank Susie and Rick for all their help on December 16. To Jim Ellis, our representative, thanks for being a part of the book and for letting it be our book.

I hope all of you find parts of this book that really remind you of our first year as James Madison University. This book is dedicated to YOU, the people who made JMU happen. I'm glad I was a part of it and hopefully you are too.
